Skandakumara – Vishakha Exceptional Rarity

29

- 29 Kushans, Huvishka, Gold Dinar, 7.97g, "Skandakumara – Vishakha" type, Obv: Diademed, crowned and draped half-length bust of Huvishka, with flaming shoulder, rising from mountains, facing left, holding mace-sceptre in one hand and a lion-headed standard in the other, Bactrian legend "SHAONANO SHAO OOESHKI KOSHANO" around, Rev: Two male deities, nimbate and wearing dhoti, standing facing each other, each holding a long spear and resting a hand on the hilt of sword tied to the waist with tamgha between them, Bactrian legend "SKAN" below, "DO KOM" to left, "AR" above and "O BIZAGO" to right (Göbl 156 (same pair of dies). Tiny test mark on edge otherwise extremely fine+, exceedingly rare.

The legend on the reverse of this coin identifies the male deities as 'Skandakumara' and 'Vishakha', two forms which eventually became assimilated with the iconography of Kartikeya, the son of Lord Shiva. It offers important evidence that in the 2nd century, they were treated and worshipped as individual gods. Huvishka also issued coins with Skanda, Kumara and Vishakha as three separate deities, in addition to Mahasena, who was also later identified with Kartikeya. Coins with multiple deities are extremely rare, as indicated by specimens that are often encountered struck using the same pair of dies.

Krishnadevraya Dodda Honnu Historical Rarity

133

- 133 Vijayanagar Empire, Krishnadevaraya, Gold Dodda Honnu or Double Pagoda, 7.78g, Obv: Four-armed Lord Venkateshwara of Tirupati standing under Makara Thoranam (ornamental archway) is a decorative arch frame that surrounds the idol of the deity. The frame consists of two pedestals and an arch. The Makara, a guardian figure, is placed on the two pedestals to protect the idol. At the top of the arch is a Keerti-mukha figurine, a typical architectural element. Kneeling Narasimha decorates the pedestal bases. God wearing tapering crown (Karanda-mukuta), Crocodile shaped ear-ornaments (Makara-kundalas), Bhuja-keerthi (arm ornaments), anklets, a medallion, necklaces, and other jewelled attributes shown by a flowing array of dots and lines. He holds Shankha and Chakra in his upper hands, and makes the gesture of benevolence (Varada-mudra), and kati hasta mudra symbolizing the dispensing of boons and the protection with lower right hand, Rev: Devanagari legend in three lines "Sri / Krishna Rā / ya" within a double circular border (Mitch# 1088). Extremely fine+.

This extremely rare and important coin is perhaps one of the 30000 coins specially struck by Krishnadeva Raya in 1516, to perform a Kanakabhishekam ("Shower of Gold") ceremony at the Tirupati temple, to thank the Lord for his victory over the Kondavidu and Gajapati dynasties of neighbouring Andhra-Orissa country. It shows a truly splendid depiction of Venkateshwara, in all its jewelled glory on obverse. As compared with it the simplicity of the reverse stands out as a testimony to the King's devotion and subservience to the Lord. A numismatic masterpiece! In England, the gold ryals (rose-nobles) with a 120-grain standard were introduced in 1465 AD, which is equivalent to 7.8 gm. In May 1522, an official proclamation recognized the circulation of foreign gold in England and fixed the values of certain coins. During Krishnadeva Raya's reign, the 120-grain gold ryals were in use as English currency. This may explain the rationale behind the Gold Honnu weight of 7.8gm. A small stash of Vijayanagar Gold coins was discovered in May 2024 near Hospet, about 14 km from Hampi, the capital of the Vijayanagar Empire. The hoard featured just a few 'Dodda Honnu', no more than can be counted on one's fingers, and about 150 Pratapa and Varaha gold coins issued by Krishnadeva Raya and his successor, Achyutaraya. Most of the Varaha and Pratapa coins were poorly made, with less than 10% being in collectible condition. Golden chance to acquire for collectors.

The Gond kingdom of Devgarh was established by Jatba 'Ajanubahu', who consolidated power over territories previously held by Gawli princes Ranashur and Ghanashur. Gorakh Shah was the third ruler to hold the titles 'Koka Shah', 'Mahipati' and 'Bhupati Raj'. His rule was contemporary to Chattrapati Shivaji Maharaj.

During the short reign of Burhan II, rare silver coins struck to a 7gm standard were issued. They were all virtually unknown two decades ago but a few have since turned up on the market. The metrology of these coins is complicated as they evidently do not fit in any Indian standard. Most likely, they were influenced by Iranian coins. Iran and the Sultanate of Ahmadnagar shared deep religious connection through the Shi'i faith and also via trade through Konkan ports like Chaul and Dabhol. While a couple of half units have been known, this is the first instance of a ¼ unit of this type coming to light.

Very little known about this Obscure State, a few coins were struck during the 18th and 19th Centuries but this was probably merely as a demonstration of independence rather than for any economic reasons. Thus, the coins of Kachar are extremely rare.

Realised ₹ Estimate: ₹ 1,50,000-2,00,000

A famous Sahukar Babuji Naik was in charge at Baramati during 1720-1745 and the mint must have been run by him. Many early Maratha issues have better calligraphy and show absence of distinguishing symbol.

Realised ₹ Estimate: ₹ 15,000-20,000

- 200 Silver Trishuli Rupee, 11.27g, Pseudo Mint name Arkat but may struck some were in South Maharashtra / North Karnataka region, in the name of Shah Alam II, AH 1183, Trident as a mint mark (Not listed in Wiggins). Extremely fine, rare.

Rupees of this type were attributed to Danish India- Tranquebar on the basis of the AH/RV combination by Uno Jensen. However, their find-spots are invariably located in the South Maharashtra / North Karnataka region, where the 'Arcot' rupees had been popular as standard currency and even inspired issues of Maratha mints such as Dharwad. There is a good chance that these coins were struck at one of the local mints in the region, most likely controlled by the Patwardhan Sardars.

Realised ₹ Estimate: ₹ 5,000-7,000

The mint at Jamgaon was run during the very last years of 18th century by the Sindhias to provide money for their army, which was stationed around Pune. The type of the rupee was 'Chandwadi' and modelled on the coins of Wafgaon mint, which was located close to Jamgaon and was run by the Holkars. - 211 Multan, Silver Rupee, 11.54g, Dar al Aman Multan Mint, in the name of Alamgir II, AH 1173/ RY 7 (M&W# T2). Extremely fine. After his 4th invasion of India, Ahmad Shah Durrani appointed Taimur Shah as the Nizam of the occupied territory of the Punjab, with Adina Beg, the Nawab as his governor. Adina Beg revolted against the Afghans and called the Marathas for help. A large army under the command of Raghunath Rao invaded Punjab in April 1758 and Taimur Shah fled towards Afghanistan. The Marathas occupied Lahore on 20th April 1758 and established their rule over the Subah of Punjab. The occupation by the Marathas did not last for more than 6 months. Adina Beg suddenly died in early 1759, which gave a chance to Ahmad Shah Abdali to invade India for the 5th time in late October 1759. The Marathas then retreated out of the Punjab. Rupees struck by the Marathas in the name of Alamgir II at this time are known with dates AH 1172 and AH 1173, both with (posthumous) regnal year 7. AH 1173 commences on 25.08.1759 and the Marathas fled the Punjab in early November 1759 so presumably the coin was struck in short two Month gap in between.

216

- 216 Phulgaon, Silver Rupee, 11.00g, "Ankushi" type, in the name of Shah Ali Gauhar struck at Phulgaon (M&W# T1). About extremely fine, extremely rare.

Phulgaon, located on the Bheema River to the East of Pune, caught fancy of Bajirao II, the Maratha Peshwa in 1812 and he decided to make it a pleasure resort. He encouraged several Brahmin families to settle there and ordered construction of mansions and markets. As a part of this urbanisation scheme a mint also appears to have been run at Phulgaon. The additional symbol is clearly of a Hibiscus flower which is associated with Ganesha – it creates a pun on the name of the mint-town and a reference to the Peshwa's patron deity.

Realised ₹ Estimate: ₹ 25,000-30,000

- 217 Qasba Rahimatpur, Silver Do-Dandi Rupee, 11.31g, in the name of Shah Ali Gohar, Mint name at bottom on reverse. Extremely fine, rare.

This town is about 27 kilometers south east of Satara, it was fairly large trade center. The town was under administration of Patwardhan Family. Maratha account state this as a subsidiary mint of Satara. In Various old Maratha account books "Rahimatpuri" Rupee is mentioned.

The coin has a letter on obverse which looks like 'Ma' in Devanagari, but a comparison with other coins suggests that it is actually the letter 'Shri' engraved in a clumsy way. Both these varieties are not listed in Maheshwari & Wiggins.

Realised ₹ Estimate: ₹ 1,25,000-1,50,000

- 219 Sarkar Torgal, Silver Rupee, 10.87g, "Badshah-i-zaman" couplet, in the name of Muhammad Shah, inverted trishul, parasol and Devnagari 'Sa' on rev (M&W T1e). Very fine, rare.

Since the British had occupied the island of Bombay but had no currency of their own to trade. Hence, they thought of issuing their own currency based on the Mughal Rupee pattern. Consequently, they issued these coins in the name of their Emperor William and Queen Mary. But this was strongly opposed by the Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb on the ground that they did not take his permission to issue their own coins and they did not have any locus standi. Consequently, the mintage of these coins was stopped.

"Gadyana", also spelled as "Gadiana" was a local Gujarati/ Kathiawadi weight standard. The name of the weight is believed to be derived from a gold coin of that name, weighing roughly 4.15 g, that dates back at least to the eleventh century. Very little is known about the gadhyana as a weight, and its value seems to deviate from that of the same-named coin. The guddiana is mentioned as a weight for weighing gold and silver, at Anjar, Gujarat. The guddiana was equal to 89.5 grains, and thus it was a weight of about 5.8 g; there were 2 guddiana to a tola. One occasionally encounters old iron weights of indeterminate age that seem to be examples of gadhyana trade weights, but they appear based on a relatively heavy gadhyana or tola.
